

PhD Fellowship Preparation Course
Course name: ZOO 4926/6927
Lecture Times: Thursdays - Period E1 (5:10 pm)
Location: FAB 0105
Academic Term: Fall 2022

Instructor:

Dr. Regina Rodriguez

Email Address: reginarodriguez@aa.ufl.edu

Office: 314 Tigert Hall

Teaching Assistant/Peer Mentor/Supervised Teaching Student:

To be added on Canvas

Course overview:

With an understanding of fellowships and grants, students will be better able to generate funding for their doctoral studies. With an understanding of the importance of selecting an adviser, students will be better able to ensure they have the proper mentoring in order to complete a doctoral program. With an understanding of peer reviewed literature and how to get published, students will be better able to get published in order to pave a path for an academic career. All of these components contribute to the success of students completing a doctoral program, thus increasing the retention rate and decreasing the attrition rate of the university.

Course Description

Course focuses on two major requirements for graduate Fellowships: Personal Essay and Research Statement. Credits: 1.

Course Pre-Requisites / Co-Requisites

Must be a senior undergraduate student or first year graduate student.

Course Objectives

1. To develop in students an understanding of the fellowship and grant process
2. To develop the capability and confidence in students to develop outstanding components of fellowships and grants; such as personal statement, previous research, and proposed research.
3. To develop an understanding of crucial components to obtaining a PhD, including the selection of an adviser, the importance of mentoring, peer reviewed literature and how to get published.

Attendance Policy, Class Expectations, and Make-Up Policy

Students are encouraged to attend all classes. There are no exams. Grades are based on writing materials and presentations.

Assessment Methods:

Each major component of the fellowship application will be required for a grade, as well as participation in the peer review process. These components will be assigned throughout the course, and will be collected, peer reviewed, and graded. A three-minute presentation on the student's overall application will be required at the end of the course. This presentation will subsequently prepare students for the three-minute thesis (3M) competition offered through the Graduate School. Late homework will be accepted with a 50% penalty if it is submitted between 10:30 am the day it is due and the beginning of the next class period. No credit will be given if it is submitted more than one class period late. Allowances will be made for health issue and family emergencies.

Students Requiring Accommodations

Students with disabilities who experience learning barriers and would like to request academic accommodations should connect with the disability Resource Center by visiting <https://disability.ufl.edu/students/get-started/>. It is important for students to share their accommodation letter with their instructor and discuss their access needs, as early as possible in the semester.

Course Evaluation

Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Guidance on how to give feedback in a professional and respectful manner is available at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/students/>. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens, and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals, in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals, or via <https://ufl.bluer.com/ufl/>. Summaries of course evaluation results are available to students at <https://gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/public-results/>.

In-Class Recording

Students are allowed to record video or audio of class lectures. However, the purposes for which these recordings may be used are strictly controlled. The only allowable purposes are (1) for personal educational use, (2) in connection with a complaint to the university, or (3) as evidence in, or in preparation for, a criminal or civil proceeding. All other purposes are prohibited. Specifically, students may not publish recorded lectures without the written consent of the instructor.

A “class lecture” is an educational presentation intended to inform or teach enrolled students about a particular subject, including any instructor-led discussions that form part of the presentation, and delivered by any instructor hired or appointed by the University, or by a guest instructor, as part of a University of Florida course. A class lecture does not include lab sessions, student presentations, clinical presentations such as patient history, academic exercises involving solely student participation, assessments (quizzes, tests, exams), field trips, private conversations between students in the class or between a student and the faculty or lecturer during a class session.

Publication without permission of the instructor is prohibited. To “publish” means to share, transmit, circulate, distribute, or provide access to a recording, regardless of format or medium, to another person (or persons), including but not limited to another student within the same class section. Additionally, a recording, or transcript of a recording, is considered published if it is posted on or uploaded to, in whole or in part, any media platform, including but not limited to social media, book, magazine, newspaper, leaflet, or third party note/tutoring services. A student who publishes a recording without written consent may be subject to a civil cause of action instituted by a person injured by the publication and/or discipline under UF Regulation 4.040 Student Honor Code and Student Conduct Code.

University Honesty Policy

UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge which states, “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: “On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.” The Conduct Code (<https://sccr.dso.ufl.edu/process/student-conduct-code/>) specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions. If you have any questions or concerns, please consult with the instructor or TAs in this class.

Software Use

All faculty, staff, and students of the University are required and expected to obey the laws and legal agreements governing software use. Failure to do so can lead to monetary damages and/or criminal penalties for the individual violator. Because such violations are also against University policies and rules, disciplinary action will be taken as appropriate. We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to uphold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honesty and integrity.

Student Privacy

There are federal laws protecting your privacy with regards to grades earned in courses and on individual assignments. For more information, please see: <https://registrar.ufl.edu/ferpa.html>

Campus Resources:

Health and Wellness

U Matter, We Care:

Your well-being is important to the University of Florida. The U Matter, We Care initiative is committed to creating a culture of care on our campus by encouraging members of our community to look out for one another and to reach out for help if a member of our community is in need. If you or a friend is in distress, please contact umatter@ufl.edu so that the U Matter, We Care Team can reach out to the student in distress. A nighttime and weekend crisis counselor is available by phone at 352-392-1575. The U Matter, We Care Team can help connect students to the many other helping resources available including, but not limited to, Victim Advocates, Housing staff, and the Counseling and Wellness Center. Please remember that asking for help is a sign of strength. In case of emergency, call 9-1-1.
